This year the Zonta Club of Victoria donated $5000 to cover transportation costs associated with VSAC’s Crisis Response Program.

VSAC’s Crisis Response Program is a 24-hour immediate response service available by phone or in person for people in our community who have been impacted by sexualized violence. During business hours, a highly experienced crisis worker responds to phone calls and people who walk-in to VSAC. After hours, phone support is provided in partnership with the Vancouver Island Crisis Line, with access to mobilize our volunteer-staffed collaborative Sexual Assault Response Team (SART). SART provides information, support and/or accompaniment to hospital and police reporting for survivors of sexual assault. During the initial hours and days after an assault, survivors can be confused, over-whelmed, and most likely still in shock. The experience of sexual assault can be devastating and life altering. Consequently, the role the SART support worker in providing emotional support and information can be integral to a survivor in the aftermath of a sexual assault.

As part of this process, survivors and SART workers often need to be transported to the hospital or the police station where medical needs are attended to, forensic evidence collected and police statements made. If the survivor does not have the resources that would allow them to get to the hospital, VSAC provides transportation for them.

With Zonta’s help, VSAC is able to ensure that survivors and SART workers have a transportation resource available, making our emergency response services more accessible. We extend a special thanks to the Zonta Club of Victoria for their commitment and partnership.

Invisible Door
By Sarah B.
As the years continue to pass by, He is someone I will never forget.
I used to be his favorite grandchild.
But now, I’m his biggest threat.
Running into his arms upon his arrival, I tried to fight.
Always there when I needed him.
We held binding friendship without an end.
I thought that I could trust him;
He made me laugh and would always listen.
He was supposed to keep me safe.
I thought that was always a given.

When I was ten my world came to an end.
Something just didn’t feel right.
I didn’t want to keep our secret anymore.
It hurt, I told my mother that night.
I was left with shattered faith in the world.
The monster was in the house.
I lived through life being scarred of outside.
I felt no bigger than a mouse.

I used to be his favorite grandchild;
This was his sick and twisted game.
I never knew what was always a given.
I thought that was always a given.

I sought out help in counseling;
I sometimes was not to blame.
I was actually the survivor;
This was his sick and twisted game.

I needed to make a drastic change when I was twenty-four.
With my new found strength and all of my might,
I kicked down my invisible door.

For Service Clubs:
Are you a member of a Service Club?
Here’s how your group can get involved:

- Invite a speaker from VSAC to talk to your group.
- In consultation with our Resource Development Staff, choose a project that feels meaningful for your group to support.
- Make a donation
- Volunteer at our events
- Host a third party event, proceeds to VSAC (http://vsac.ca/host-an-event/)

Karen Wickham came to VSAC by a fortuitous accident. Volunteer Victoria misdirected Karen to the VWSAC crisis line instead of the general crisis line in 1986 when she was a student at UVic, wanting to volunteer in the community. And the rest, as they say, is history!

After a year on the crisis line and a trained member of the Emergency Response Team, Karen became an employee in 1988. She has worn several hats in different capacities: crisis intake, emergency response, crisis intervention program (a combo of crisis and victim services), counselling and court services. Today Karen still manages two hats: Crisis Line Coordinator and Team Leader for Direct Client Services.

Being an icon of longevity, Karen has worked with three executive directors, has seen the staff contingent grow from 4 to 25 employees. She was here for the inception of the Victim Services Program, the roll out of the Stopping the Violence Initiative, the introduction of the Residential Historical Abuse Program, the creation of Ending Violence Association of BC, the provincial umbrella group supporting Victim Assistance and Stopping the Violence Counselling programs, and now the ground-breaking trans* inclusion work being done to provide services for the trans* survivors.

Karen is the “EXPERT” when it comes to statistics and the database. Having begun with no computers and handwritten data, Karen has assisted those of us who glaze over at the mention of numbers report on our daily work and has shared with us the “joy” of data input and recording statistics.

In 1996 when VSAC certified with the BCSEU, Karen became a shop steward and continues to support the staff to this day. As shop steward, Karen has served on the Provincial Bargaining Committee and participates in ongoing training with the union.

Adding to the legend of longevity, Karen is happily ensconced in a long term relationship. Karen professes to ongoing training with the union.

Over the years of the 90’s, Rhizome youth travelled with Project Respect staff to two national Top Left conferences in Ontario hosted by the Students Commission at Whitney. At these conferences, youth from all four communities came together in shared experiences, ideas, and skills, and created social action projects (such as videos and presentations) to take back to their home communities. The conferences were also life changing on a personal level for many of the youth. Karen holds the history of VSAC and is a much respected and revered member of this organization.

We appreciate the enormous breadth of knowledge and expertise Karen brings to the table and her strength and wisdom that supports and enriches us all. Another 28 years!

Goddess Run
Over 3000 runners and walkers took to Langford streets on June 1st for the third annual Victoria Goddess Run. VSAC was honored to be one of three charity partners for the 2014 event. In addition to the main run, VSAC and VWTH also received proceeds from two new pre-race events: Sunset Yoga and the Bathrobe Run.

#TopLeft: Engaging Boys and Young Men in Gender-Based Violence Prevention
By Elicia Loiselle

In 2013, we began a partnership with national youth organization, the Students Commission of Canada, under the Top Left project. Youth involved in the project named it Top Left because that’s where the heart is. The project is designed to engage more boys and young men in working with youth of all genders to end gender-based violence. Top Left is happening in four communities across the country: Victoria, Saskatoon, Toronto, and Miramichi NB.

Top Left challenges the idea that ending gender-based violence is “girls’ and women’s work”, because we know that in order to create the change that is needed, boys and young men must play an integral role in changing peer cultures based in dominant masculinity, which create and normalize gender-based violence.

We’re just at the end of the first year of this two year project and it has been amazing.

Overview of the Year
Rhizome youth travelled with Project Respect staff to the national Top Left conferences in Ontario hosted by the Students Commission at Whitney. At these conferences, youth from all four communities came together in shared experiences, ideas, and skills, and created social action projects (such as videos and presentations) to take back to their home communities. The conferences were also life changing on a personal level for many of the youth.

Locally, we also hosted Project Respect’s first overnight youth conference in March 2014. Organized and co-facilitated by the Rhizome youth social action team, Project Respect the conference was held at Camp Barnard March 7, 8, and 9 as part of our local Top Left project. In line with the outcomes for this project, 13 of the 30 youth who participated self-identified as boys or young men. The conference brought together youth ages 12-18 from diverse backgrounds and cultural contexts to explore the root causes of gender-based violence and strategies to end it. Spending three days together at a camp also enabled everyone to build the kind of inclusive and positive community we all want to have everywhere.

Highlights of the conference included: the powerful welcome and blessing by “Sooke Nation Elder Linda Bristol; anti-colonial nature walks led by Beecher Bay Nation Elder Pakki Chips who is an amazing educator, artist, and ethnobotanist; the gender sweater skit created by the youth facilitated to introduce the idea of gender as a spectrum; the trans* inclusive space everyone created together; camp fire discussions about community and consent; the Consensual Dance Party; and the 6 social action plans the youth created to address gender-based violence in the community that we’ll be working on implementing over the coming year.

This June, 2014, Triathlon of Compassion participants raised $22,000 to support VSAC services. Kudos to Colette (13 years old) and Hannah (14 years old) who not only won first place in their age categories, but also were this year’s Top fundraisers with over $4,000 in pledges! Second place went to lifetime supporter and tri participant, Jules Wilson, who raised over $3,000 this year and whose lifetime fundraising for VSAC now exceeds $20,000! Wendy Perrol, another long time fundraiser came third and won the brand new road bike donated by the Trek Bike Store Victoria. Five VSAC staff raced (four were first timers) and three medaled. Well done to all who participated and raised funds.

We also want to thank the hundreds of volunteers who worked hard to make the event happen, especially the Tri of compassion organizing committee who, under the leadership of Human Powered Racing’s Rob Dibden, did a stellar job of ensuring the event ran smoothly.
